Gangster Thwarted in Love Affair Fired Crowded Theater to "Get"
Janitor

ALSO TRIED TO WRECK TENEMENT

Set Bomb in Hallway in Effort to Kill Girl Because He Couldn't Get Her

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—How hundreds of lives were endangered when a moving picture theater was soaked with kerosene and fired and a bomb
later placed in the hallway of a crowded tenement that a gang leader might obtain vengeance for interference in a love affair, was told to detectives and representatives from the district attorney's office here today.

Alfred Lehman, Anthony Sadatys and Rocco Puciorello, who have confessed to having planted scores of bombs and committed numerous other crimes, told the story.

For Revenge on Janitor
"Never heard the inside story of the burning of the Hippodrome
movie, did you?" asked Lehman.
"The place was burned because the janitor, Joe the Wop, butted in on Giuseppe Farrara's live affairs. Far-rara has skipped to Italy now, so you can't get him, and I'll tell the yarn."

Lehman then told how a young girl named Nellie Pecarro was admired by Farrara, but "her old man objected." Farrara then proposed that members of the gang kidnap the girl and deliver her to him at a saloon.

"He said he would give us $100
each," continued Lehman. "Three of us undertook the job. We had to go through the Hippodrome to get in back of the tenement at 170 Houston street, where the Pecarros lived.
Joe the Wop saw us hanging around,
and got a gang to chase us away.
When we told Farrara, also known as Fay, what had happened, he was wild. He swore he would croak the Wop. The next day he gave us kerosene and benzine and told us to 'fix'
the theater. We spread the stuff all over the seats and floor. Fay threw a lighted paper on the floor after
the place was full and we beat it.
The people poured out of the place
and only a couple were burned a little and as some one turned in an alarm quick, the fire was put out before the theater was entirely burned."

Wanted Family Killed
"That made Fay mad. He said if he couldn't have the girl, nobody else would, and gave us the bomb to put in the hallway. He said it was strong enough to blow the whole place to hell, and did not care if it did. He said he did not care if the whole family was killed."

It is for the placing of this bomb that Sylvester is on trial. The bomb failed to go off.
Despite the statements made by his associates, Sylvester appeared confident today. He was scheduled to take the stand this afternoon and will make a detailed denial of knowing anything of the long list of crimes to which the other gangsters have confessed.

SOLONS REFUSED WRIT

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 29.—
The state supreme court today refused a writ of error in the cases of Senator Ben A. Smith and Delegates
S. U. G. Rhodes, Rath Duff, David
Hill and A. F. Ashbury of the state legislature convicted last summer of accepting bribes for their votes in the 1913 senatorial contest. They will be removed to the penitentiary to serve their sentences.

FIRE GUTS BLOCK

MANCHESTER, N. H., Jan. 29.—
Fire, which threatened the entire retail section of Manchester today was under control at ten o'clock and had gutted one city block. Loss was esfiremen were injured.

COXEY WANTS TO LEAD CAMPAIGN

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 29.— While admitting that his plans
were vague as yet, General J.
S. Coxe insisted today he was serious in his call for a new "Coxey's army" to march to Washington.

"We want to encamp a million unemployed men right on the grass around the capitol
and let the president and congress see them every day," said Coxey.

Squinting through his old-fashioned glasses as he sat in a heavily upholstered chair in the lobby of a fashionable hotel today, Coxe reviewed his famous march of 1894.

Hoboes attending the annual convention of the Migratory Workers of the World here indicated that Coxe's scheme was designed to regain their confidence following his speech
when he was hooted as a "boss and plutocrat."

GOETHALS TAKES REINS AT PANAMA

Accepts by Wire Wilson's Offer of Governorship of the Canal Zone

NOT ACCEPTED FOR FIXED TIME

Although Action Seems to Settle that He Won't Go to New York Mitchell Still Hopes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The
nomination of Colonel George W.
Goethals to be first civil governor of the Panama canal zone, was sent to the senate this afternoon by President Wilson. The appointment takes effect April 1, at which time the plan of government outlined by the president in his recent executive order will go into effect.

Would Boost Salary
A bill to prevent a reduction of $5,000 a year in Col. Goethals' salary when he becomes governor of the Panama canal was introduced in the house today by Representative Britten of Illinois. Goethals now receives $15,000 a year, while the Panama canal act provides only $10,- 000 for the governor. Britten would make the governor's salary $15,000
as long as Goethals holds the job.

Colonel Goethals today accepted by wire President Wilson's offer of the governorship of the canal zone.
Secretary of War Garrison refused to give out the text of the telegram, until Goethals' nomination is sent to the senate. It is said, however, that the canal builder had accepted the offer unconditionally and not for any specific time, apparently disposing of the report that he would serve for a year as governor of the canal zone, and then accept the offer of Mayor Mitchell of New York to become police commissioner.

New York Hopeful
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Mayor
Mitchell was still confident today that
Col. Goethals will be next police commissioner of New York, when shown reports that Goethals had unconditionally accepted the governor-ship of the Panama zone.

STOLE MUTILATED MONEY

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Cloyd A.
Schisler, 23, of 17 Henry street, Crestline, Ohio, who says he is a former employee of the Adams Express company, today confessed, according to the police, that he stole $1,500
in mutilated money enroute to Washington to be destroyed and spent it on women. Schisler was arrested in a cafe last night.

PROFESSOR RECOVERS

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Prof. Thos.
J. Bosworth, English instructor who was attacked in the Chicago Latin school Tuesday night, was reported in an improved condition today but not out of danger. Though circumstances of the mysterious slaying of Prof. Bosworth are unexplained,
the police have accepted his story
that two burglars assaulted him.

HEADSMAN KILLS GERMAN WOMEN

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 29.—
A double execution of women with axe and block occurred
this afternoon at Ratibor prison in Prussia. The executioner first chopped off the head of Franziska Zimmer, a young woman convicted of killing her stepmother. The body and severe head were carried away,
and then the headsmen executed Joseph Kubacka, who killed her husband, a miner.
Both women died stoically. The executions were witnessed only by officials and the full details were not given out. The German newspapers devoted four lines to the story.

HOLD MILLIONAIRE FOR HUGE RANSOM

Spokane Plutocrat Alleged in Hands of Gang Who Demand $75,000 for Release

LETTER MAY PROVE TO BE HOAX

If Note to Police Can Be Proved Genuine Wife
Will Entertain Proposition

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 29.—
That Lewis Clark, a Spokane millionaire, had been kidnapped and is being held for $75,000 ransom was the statement made in a letter received by Chief of Police Sebastian and made public today. Clark has been missing since the evening of January 17, when he disappeared from Santa Barbara.

May Be Hoax
The letter to Sebastian was signed
"Blackmailers." It is not known whether it is a hoax. The missive said Clark had been abducted and was being well treated, but that his captors must get $75,000 before he would be released.

The letter instructed Sebastian to have the answer to the demand published in the newspapers. Clark's wife said she would entertain the ransom proposition, but that she must receive assurances first that it was genuine.

Clark and his wife were visiting
Santa Barbara when he disappeared.
On the evening of January 17 he saw his wife off on a train for Los Angeles and started to walk back to their hotel. He never reached there and several hours later a search was instituted. His hat was found on the Santa Barbara wharf and it was supposed he had drowned.

Police Credit Letter
Some members of the police department are inclined to credit the authenticity of the letter.

From the first, Mrs. Clark has insisted her husband was not drowned. Since the receipt of the ransom letter, she believes he was seized while walking on the wharf and that in the struggle with his captors his hat was knocked off.

FIND "SHIPPING TRUST"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The
final report of the "shipping trust"
inquiry of the house merchant marine committee was submitted today
in secret session to the full committee. It held that a "shipping trust" does in fact exist in Atlantic,
South and Central American trade
through "shipping pools." The report will probably be submitted to the house early next week.

AGED MAN FREEZES

WASHBURN, Wis., Jan. 29.—Little hope was held out today for the recovery of Lafayette Stowe, 85,
who wandered for two days and nights in the cold without food or water. He was lost while inspecting some timber land. Both hands and one foot were frozen.

BATTLESHIP ASHORE

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 29.—The Swedish battleship Tapperheben was reported ashore this afternoon near

LOCAL MEN HURT WHEN FLOOR FALLS

Frank and Charles Klick Seriously Injured by Accident in Building
at Rushford

Charles Klick, 1219 South Fourteenth street, and his cousin, Frank,
were buried beneath an avalanche of bricks and timbers and severely hurt
Tuesday afternoon at Rushford, Minn., when a temporary floor in a building upon which they were working, collapsed. Ludwig Chilson, a Rushford man, was also hurt in the crash.

Frank Klick is seriously injured,
according to word from Rushford today. He suffered a crushed hip, a broken collar bone and possible internal injuries, as well as having several fingers upon one hand nearly run off. Charles Klick suffered ast of the three, having only a washed hand and slight scalp wounds. The Rushford man, Chilson, is suffering from a long gash
which laid bare the bone in his leg.
The accident occurred, it is said,
because the men, all of whom are ricklayers, had removed props from the scaffolding which were essential to support its weight. The three were hidden under a heap of bricks, tile
and timbers after the crash, and were extricated with difficulty.

MISS BOOTH BETTER

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Commander Eva Booth of the Salvation Army who has been seriously ill for some days, showed considerable improvement today.

GUGGENHEIM SAYS SUIT IS DROPPED

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—The famous Guggenheim divorce case had its final chapter here today, when attorneys for Mrs. Grace Guggenheim Wahl, formerly accepted tender of a certified check for $78,000 and an agreement on the part of William Guggenheim, smelter millionaire, to pay Mrs. Guggenheim Wahl $500 a month alimony
for the rest of her life.

The $78,000 represents $500
a month alimony from March 21, 1901. The offer was made by Guggenheim's attorneys. It was stated, to prevent Mrs.
Guggenheim Wahl from again
opening the proceedings by which she obtained a divorce
from Guggenheim in Chicago,
on grounds of fraud and testing the legality of his second marriage and the legitimacy of a child by that marriage.

WEST SALEM SHOP ROBBED OF MONEY

Roy Davis Alleged to Have Taken Cash and Checks Amounting to Approximately $46.00

IS CAUGHT AT SPARTA, WIS.

Proprietor Herman Kuehn Telephones Ahead of the Train and Alleged Thief Is Nabbed

Sheriff J. B. Weber left today for Sparta, Wis., to bring to this city Roy Davis, a young man alleged to have last night robbed the butcher
shop of Herman Kuehn, West Salem, Wis., of cash and checks amounting to $46.00.

The young man, whose home is said to be in Pipestone, Minn., was working for Kuehn and was in the shop early last evening, says Mr.
Kuehn. Returning at night the proprietor discovered the theft and suspected Davis.

He lost no time in reporting the theft to the authorities and suspecting that Davis left on the 9 o'clock Milwaukee train going east telephoned Bangor, Sparta and Tomah.
The young man was taken from the train at Sparta.

At the time of his arrest, it is said, he had on his person thirty-five dollars in cash. The checks, one for $17.00 and others for smaller amounts, were missing.

SCORES JINGO TALK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The naval position of the United States at present should cause no especial alarm, Representative Sherley of Kentucky told the house in a speech scoring war alarmists. Taking a fling at Rear Admiral Vreeland for suggesting a Japanese war scare before the house naval affairs committee yesterday declared that Corregidor island, in the Philippines, is so fortified at present that it could withstand attack for six months.

KICK ON MINE LAW

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 29.—Ohio
coal operators today threatened a vigorous fight on the new mine screen law passed by the senate and which is now before the house. The law would pay miners for all coal actually mined in lieu of the screened produced as in the past. Reports of the mine owners openly declared that with the measure a law, every mine in the state would be forced to close by March 1.

MONTANAN WANTS LA CROSSE GIRL

There is a matrimonial find awaiting some little La Crosse girl at Great Falls, Montana.
This is the information coming from Postmaster William Tscharner today as he exhibited a photograph resembling Frank Gotch in physique and the Apollo Belvedere in facial beauty.
Mr. Tscharner today received a letter from Great Falls in which he was requested to hold the photograph to exhibit to the ambitious fair ones and to insert an advertisement in local papers announcing that the subject of the picture is ready to meet all comers. Mr. Tscharner is keeping the name of the prospective bridegroom secret
upon request, but declares he has never been a citizen of La Crosse.
Postal clerks are now divided on the question of whether the new eugenic law or the notorious beauty of La Crosse
girls is responsible for the selection of this city by the Montana bachelor for the scene of his wooing.

SAYS STATEMENT WAS MISLEADING

Comptroller Fries Sustains Contention of The Tribune
but Shows He Was Not Responsible

COUNCIL ORDERED IT SENT OUT

Misleading Feature Due to Faulty State System to Which Books of City Must Conform

In a statement made to The Tribune today, W. J. Fries, city comptroller, corroborates this paper's contention that the statement of taxes sent to taxpayers of La Crosse some time ago was misleading in that it listed as "state and county taxes" some $60,000 which in fact was city school taxes.
Mr. Fries corrects us by showing that he did not send out the statement, but that it was sent out by the city treasurer by order of the city council, a fact that relieves both the comptroller and the treasurer of responsibility in the matter.

System at Fault

Following is Comptroller Fries' interview:

"It is a fact that the statement
sent to taxpayers some time since,
purporting to show where the taxpayers' money goes to, may be misleading in the hands of citizens not familiar with the city's system of accounting, in that about $60,000 of the money listed under the item,
'state and county taxes,' really remains in the city as part of the school fund, the state merely acting
as an agency for its collection.
"However, The Tribune's editorial
was in error in assuming that I sent out the statement, and to that extent has done me an injustice. The statement was sent out by the city treasurer pursuant to a resolution adopted by the city council.

"However, I wish it to be understood that I feel the fact is not a reflection upon the treasurer. He did what he was ordered to do, and he followed the arrangement of the budget.

Sees no Help

"The fact is that the budget, if used to convey information to those not familiar with the essential facts of city finances, is so arranged as to make misunderstanding possible. And it is an unfortunate fact that this thing cannot be remedied until the state changes its system of accounting. I have sought for two years to devise a method of so writing the budget as to avoid the misleading feature and still conform to the state's system, and I find it is impossible.
Certainly it should be changed, so that our books might be correctly interpreted at a glance.

Footnote Necessary

"It should be added, however, that the form of the budget does not puzzle
the city officials, and as they understand it, it is sufficient for city business purposes; it is only when it is sent without explanation to uninformed people that it misleads. The only way to avoid that, in sending out such a notice as that to which reference has been made, is to append a footnote explaining the items
over which confusion may arise, and were I sending out such a notice, I certainly would attach an explanation."

BANGOR MAN FOUND BOUND AND GAGGED

Will Kirschner Claims He Was Attacked by Two Strangers, Knocked Senseless and Tied

William Kirschner, formerly owner of a printing shop in Bangor, Wis., was found bound and gagged in the basement of the shop there early this morning by a plumber who had entered the basement to work.

The case is surrounded with mystery. Mr. Kirschner telling a story of an attack of two strangers. The motive for the deed is unknown, as nothing in the basement, shop, or the Kirschner flat above, was molested.

Mr. Kirschner says he answered the doorbell at midnight to be greeted by two men.

"Come outside, we want to see
you," he says they said.

Kirschner said he would as soon
as he donned his clothes.

Returning he stepped outside, and was "slugged." That is the last he remembers.

The authorities at Bangor have been unable to locate the mysterious strangers.

DELAY JAP DISCUSSION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—At the personal request of Secretary of State Bryan, the house immigration committee today again declined at this time to hold hearings on the Raker Asiatic exclusion bill. Bryan asked postponement to prevent fresh fuel being added to the dispute with Japan.

General Rascon Who Was Slated for War Minister Sent in Exile to San Salvador

(By a United Press Staff Correspondent)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29.—Government denials of the police plot to overthrow Huerta were refuted today
by the publication in Mexican newspapers of the first details of the conspiracy.

Fernando Gonzalez was to have been made president, and General
Rascon minister of war, had the plott-
ers succeeded. It was announced today that Rascon would soon go to San Salvador. This means that he is being exiled by Huerta, as was Gonzalez.

Huerta Belittles Plot

The published details of the plot
were given out by the chief of police of Mexico City without Huerta's knowledge, it was said. Huerta and his advisers have done all they could to deny and belittle the conspiracy, because their prestige would be weakened if the public knew how far the conspirators were able to carry their plans before they were caught.

Colonel Olesso Kobles and Major Pedro Zavala, accused as leaders in the police plot, are now prisoners in San Juan de Ula fortress at Vera Cruz.

The Japanese minister held a long conference with Gen. Huerta this afternoon, discussing, it was reported,
the financial arrangements for any ammunition which any Japanese manufacturer may furnish the Huerta government.

The Japanese colony today was greatly excited over the publication
in a local newspaper of this statement, attributed to President Wilson:

"The Japanese are supplying the federals with arms and we must supply the rebels with the same."

Move on Torreon

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico, Jan. 29.— General Pancho Villa, recovered from his recent illness, today gave orders to his subordinates to rush to completion the movement of con-stitutionalists towards Torreon, Mexican federal stronghold to the south.
General Ortega already has 10,000
soldiers north of Torreon and is only awaiting the reinforcement of his army and the arrival of Villa himself to begin the attack. Villa declared today the battle there would not be long delayed now.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Stories

that this government was on the verge of serious friction with Japan
as a result of developments in the Mexican situation were declared to be mischievous and unfounded by President Wilson this afternoon. The president told callers that it was absolutely false that the Japanese government was supplying arms to Huerta. Japanese firms as well as commercial houses of other nations are selling arms and ammunition to Huerta, but the president told his callers that they have a perfect right to do so under the provisions of international law.

ROB BADGER POSTOFFICE

RACINE, Wis., Jan. 29.—The

of stamps and a large number of blank postal money orders.

GIRLS STAND OFF COPS WITH CATSUP

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Carrie Belzer and Susan Sheehan, pretty 16 year old high school girls, faced charges of malicious mischief in police court today
because they showered policemen with catsup and vegetables.
"We're undressing; you can't come in," they shouted from a second floor window, when Sergeant Wyman and Patrolman Fahey sought their arrest for throwing a brick through a grocery store window.
The coppers looked up. A pint of catsup closed the sergeant's eyes. A can of beans ruined Fahey's uniform. They called the patrol.

PLAN ANSWER TO SORESENSEN

In the Event Entire Board

tive Personally

The discovery that the board of public works enjoys the privilege of discharging City Engineer George P.
Bradish and that the council, on the other hand, can impeach and oust the board, were two of the important developments in the board of public works row today.

The board this morning officially
"accepted the order of the mayor"
to perform certain work on the water main at the La Crosse river, and "placed it on file." Members of the board have not determined what action they will take on the order, if any.

It also became known today that Fred Schnell, president of the board,
held a conference with Commissioners George Falk and John Vollmar,
the other members, relative to "answering" the order of the mayor.
Whether or not the board as a whole

Schnell Blames Bradish

Co-incident with the discovery of the board's power to remove the engineer, Mr. Schnell this morning reiterated his assertion of yesterday that Mr. Bradish had not furnished the board with plans or specifications for the protection of the water
main in the La Crosse river.

"Engineer Bradish never made any suggestions to me or the board on the La Crosse river work," declared Schnell this morning, "and never furnished plans or specifications. The board believes it was his duty to furnish them immediately after the passage of the resolution by the council. It is not the duty of the board to go to him."

"We waited all summer for something from his office and then, when we feared that the river would freeze went ahead on our own initiative. In our opinion the work was done right
and serves to protect the pier as well as the water pipe."

ARMOUR PORTRAIT IN HALL OF FAME

Half-length painting of Philip Danforth Armour hung in University of Illinois Hall of Fame.

The University of Illinois yesterday honored the memory of the founder of Armour and Company, the late Philip D. Armour, by installing his name and portrait in the Illinois Farmers' Hall of Fame, Urbana, Illinois.

An appropriate program had been arranged, with addresses by men who knew Mr. Armour best as the farmer, in business and as the man, after which, the portrait was unveiled by the granddaughter, Miss Lolita Armour, tendered to the university by the son, Mr. J. Ogden Armour, and receipt acknowledged by the dean of the college of agriculture. Up to this date only seven men have been selected for places in the hall, which is the first of its kind. These men represent the several lines of activity that have conducted largely to the development of the Illinois farmer. Mr. Armour was chosen as the leading spirit of his time in creating a large, profitable and central market for live stock and securing a widely distributed home and foreign demand for animal products.

SAVANA, Ga., Jan. 29.—Thomas B. Felder, attorney general of Georgia, today accused Federal Judge Emory Speer of issuing orders to cover up how juries were selected, in testifying before the congressional committee investigating impeachment charges against Judge Speer. He declared in one case juries were picked by a marshal instead of being drawn from the jury box as required by law.

Cleveland, Ohio—"My left side pained me so for several years that I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 7305 Madison Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanover, Pa.—"I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. ### FAMOUS AUTHORS SERIES AT LYRIC

The greatest curse that can overtake the human, is the loss of sentiment. Without it the soul is seared, all the finer instincts of the nature are deadened—life loses its meaning and motive.

So long as there is sentiment in the heart—love and respect for some other person—just so long is there the possibility of greater things to be achieved. With the feeble spark of sentiment in the breast, even the vilest, meanest man, wallowing in the gutter has within him, that which, if nurtured, can draw him up to a better and cleaner life.

This is the lasting truth strikingly joined out in the Eclair Players Photoplay entitled "The Case of Cherry Purcell."

There are three characters that show up strongly in this piece. They move on the outer fringe of society.

There is "Coke" Morgan, a confirmed cocaine fiend, brilliant of mind, but crooked through the drug's workings. He is a fair example of many an unfortunate who haunts the shadows of the great city.

"Coke" is a fiend, an outcast, a cheap grafter, yet "Coke" has never experienced the greater tragedy, the loss of sentiment and that is what finally saves him—the love of a little slavey.

Of course the slavey retained sentiment and faith, with all the abuse and dirt heaped upon her and again there is the case of Cherry Purcell.

Cherry has red lips, she is pretty, and she, like many of her kind, longed for the ruffles, the pretty clothes to modify her personal charms. Perhaps, in a way Cherry was weaker than the average girl, she was clever, more clever than the average girl and she also retained the spark of sentiment aglow in her breast and it was this that eventually awoke her to something better, to something cleaner.

This is the first of the famous authors series, which are going to be shown at the Lyric theater, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 30 and 31.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

BILLY'S BANDAGES

By MOLLY M'MASTER
(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Perhaps, even had Billy heard the motor horn he might not have thrown himself back to avoid it. However, he had not heard it and since it had been a speeding motor he had had not a chance of saving himself.

Consequently Billy opened his very blue eyes a few days after the accident in a scene curiously interesting to one who had never before seen the inside of a hospital.

Never in Billy's checkered career had he awakened from sleep in a soft, white-sheeted bed with downy pillows, nor had he ever seen at his bedside a great bowl of carnations.

He drew in a long breath of the fragrance and comfort and gazed interestedly about at the white clad nurses that flitted noiselessly about. They seemed to be ministering angels. At least the unattended life Billy had led made him think of them as such.

"Maybe the old wolf at the door got me after all," he muttered, "and this is what we call heaven."

"Did you speak?" a soft voice at his elbow questioned.

Billy would have turned had his body permitted it. His mind certainly leaped eagerly toward that other mind that had addressed him.

"I was wondering," he began, "but there are so many wonders that I cannot specify what I wonder most," he ended with a smile.

"You were knocked down by a motor three days ago," the nurse told him gently. "You've a nasty cut on your head and a broken arm."

"Might have been worse," was Billy's comment while he longed to see the face of the girl. When she arose he saw a dainty oval face with eyes that were big and bright.

"But who is paying for all this?" His free hand swept in the room.

"Mr. Marks, of course—it was entirely his fault. He admits to speed and careless driving, because he was in a desperate hurry. He has ordered the best attention for you and our head surgeon is in charge."

"I suppose I have the best nurse also," suggested Billy. It was rather a pity he missed the color that sprang into his companion's cheeks.

"In any case, I am a mighty sight better off than I was before. There was a great wolf prowling about my hall room door, and what he wanted is more than I can make out. There was nothing in my cupboard and no meat on my bones—perhaps he only wanted to sharpen his teeth on my bony structure."

The nurse dropped a light question, more to humor Billy than for any other reason.

"Oh yes," he answered, "I could have a position if I wanted it, but," a wistful smile swept across his features, "I have spent my twenty-five years wanting to be an artist, and if I can't be an artist, I would just as soon the motor had finished me."

He paused a moment, then added, "I am glad now, however, to be alive. I hope my drawings were not crushed under the wheels of that car—they are the best I have done."

"I will inquire when Miss Marks comes today. She is the daughter of the man who knocked you down. In a day or so I will let her come in and talk with you. It is she who sends these." The nurse indicated the fragrant blossoms. "The entire family is frightfully upset and want to do all they can for you." "I think it was I who was upset," hinted Billy.

The girl laughed and told him to try to get a rest. "I will dress your arm this afternoon." With that she left his side and Billy found himself lonely.

During the day he discovered the nurse's pencil lying on his table in the shadow of the flowers. Out of sheer force of habit his fingers began tracing light sketches on the only available surface—convenient. His bandaged left arm, held close to his side, made an excellent easel, and Billy became interested in making tiny character heads of the various nurses and surgeons that flitted before his quick eyes.

"Linen is rather a good medium to work on," he decided, and smiled at the series of little heads that arose from the bandages on his arm.

Later in the day when the nurse caught sight of his arm she cast a tender little smile at Billy's drawings. He met the smile with a half-wistful expression and determined to make a dozen little heads of his nurse. The contour of her face was wonderfully lovely.

She took off the bandages with a light remark and put on fresh ones. She felt glad for his sake that the outer linen strips could be changed daily. It would be some time before the inner ones would be touched.

"If you continue as nicely as you have today I will let Miss Marks see you the day after tomorrow," she told him.

When she had reached the outer halls the nurse looked long and critically at the little sketches on her patient's bandages. A soft smile curved her lips and a look of surprise gathered in her intelligent eyes.

"I will show them to uncle," she said to herself. "I feel sure there is unusual talent here."

When her uncle, a connoisseur and collector of fine etchings, saw the work of his genial smile expanded.

"Where is the lad? He has a big future ahead of him. These sketches have all the charm and daintiness of a master. The boy could make a fortune etching small portrait heads. I can recognize all these nurses and doctors and I have only met some of them." He looked keenly at his niece. "I will give him an order for my own portrait—that will give him a start, eh?"

When Billy again saw his nurse there was an undercurrent of happiness about her that made him curious to know just what great event had taken place during her hour out.

"It is quite too wonderful," she answered his question swiftly. "I have shown your drawings to one of the best critics in the country," she paused almost breathless, "and he says you will be one of our foremost dry point etchers—even before that arm is out of its sling."

Billy gazed blankly at the girl for a moment, then a whimsical smile crept into his eyes. He put out his hand and slipped it into hers.

"If I were a hero in a story book, I would faint—but since I am a hero in a most comfortable bed, I can only thank you—you" his voice broke. The sudden realizing of his dreams was an emotional crisis he was scarcely strong enough to accept quietly, yet he strove to keep calm.

The nurse slipped away so that he might think over his good fortune in peace and enjoyment. Later she returned and brought with her perhaps the most beautiful girl Billy had ever rested his artist's eyes upon. She was Miss Marks and she smiled most bewitchingly upon Billy.

"How can I ever tell you how dreadfully we all feel that this accident happened?" she said quickly. "There is nothing my father will not do for you." She sat down beside him and Billy feasted his eyes while he tried desperately to realize that he was Billy Blake, an erstwhile struggling artist.

"Papa wanted me to ask you, first of all, whether or not you would accept five hundred dollars for the etching he picked up when—" her soft voice faltered.

"When he picked me up," finished Billy. "Catch me nurse! I think after all I had better faint." He smiled into Miss Marks's eyes. "I would have accepted five dollars for it—before your father kindly knocked me down," he added with a boyish laugh.

"Also—papa is most anxious to have a head of me done in that same touch—he wants to know if that will be your first work—when you are away from here." She glanced about the room and back to Billy's face.

Billy's eyes sparkled and he began swiftly to sketch on the bandage on his arm. "Even before that," he told her.

When Miss Marks had gone taking her wonderful beauty with her he turned to the little nurse at his side. "I begin to see—light," he said softly. "When I am sure it has come to shine for good, may I—"

He paused and his eyes rested with wistful tenderness on her. "May I come and tell you that I cannot go on living and sketching unless you can love me?" He watched the quick happiness in the girl's eyes. "I knew the very moment I opened my eyes and saw you beside me that you must always remain there if I am to be happy."

"I was so afraid you would fall in love with my cousin, Miss Marks," admitted the little nurse after a moment. "It took all my courage to let her come in."

"You forget I had already met you," Billy said.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 29.—Henry Winkel, 15, is dead today, having met death in almost the same manner and at the same hour of the day as his father, who was killed by an automobile November 25 at 5:15 in the afternoon. Young Winkel was coasting down a steep hill and ran into a machine, dying a few moments later at St. Luke's hospital.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Indian Mongoose and The Woodsman.

The Mongoose Jumped on the Snake.

"TELL us a story about some animal we've never heard of before," asked Jack as daddy was about to begin his bedtime story. "Let me think," said daddy; "there are so few animals you two children haven't seen pictures of, seen in the zoo or heard me tell stories about."

"Do think of a new one, though. You surely can," said Evelyn. "Well, have you ever heard of the Indian mongoose?"

"No," said Jack. "Tell us about him." "Is he an animal or person?" asked Evelyn uncertainly.

"Oh, he is an animal and a very real one," said daddy. "He's a great friend to the woodsman, for he lives always in the woods, and every time he sees a poisonous snake he does his best to kill him."

"I'm going to tell you a special story. One time a young woodsman, with several other friends, came to the part of the woods where the little Indian mongoose I'm going to tell you about lived. In fact, they pitched their tent very, very near the mongoose's home. This little mongoose lived all alone, and sometimes he used to get pretty lonely. So he was awfully happy to see the woodsman's camping party, for he was very fond of human people."

"One day the woodsman and his camping party started on a walking trip through the woods. They carried sacks on their backs which held their lunch. The little Indian mongoose had watched all their plans without being seen. He said also to himself that he would follow, unseen by them, for he had become attached to his new neighbors. He dreaded the harm that might come to them if they went into some parts of the woods. They had not gone very far when the little mongoose, who was running ahead, heard a hissing sound and a rustle through the leaves.

"The mongoose pricked up his ears, for, of course, he knew it must be a snake, and the men were almost up to him.

"Without waiting to draw a breath he bravely jumped on the snake and killed him before the creature could shoot forth his poisonous fangs.

"The woodsman and his friends were just in time to see the mongoose kill the snake.

"You've saved our lives!" cried the woodsman.

"Oh, how pleased the little mongoose was! During the rest of the camping party the little mongoose went on all their walks with them, and when the party broke up the woodsman, who had a lovely country home, took the Indian mongoose home with him. Such good friends as they were! And once a year the mongoose would go along, too, on the camping party."

THE TRUTH TOLD

INSIDE THE BREASTWORKS

The Milwaukee Daily News is a strictly democratic paper which, where parties are involved, never varies in its allegiance to party. However, its publisher, Mr. Hoyt, who is never unconscious of the values in the progressive movement, has a weakness for speaking plain truths to his fellow partisans. Believing that the place for party housecleaning is within the party, he cannot be depended upon to let it go with a wink when some of his fellows solemnly announce that a spade is a sugar-spoon.

We indulge in these observations preliminary to quoting from the Daily News an article in which that paper advises its readers of some plain facts about the attempt of the reactionary republicans to engage the democratic organization in a futile attempt to "pull chestnuts out of the fire" for the special interests of the state. Republican progressives will be interested in it, as bystanders, but the information is of vital concern to democrats who believe that only through consistent principles and sound achievements can a party win and retain power. The News says:

"Evidence is slowly gathering that the most of the agitation against the so-called high cost of commissions in the state with the attempt to throw dust in the public eye is but the old time stalwart movement in this state in another form.

"It seems that taxpayers' associations are being organized in several cities of southern and southwestern Wisconsin and a close scrutiny of the lists of members shows that for the most part the men associated in the movement are the same old stalwarts who have responded so nobly in times past every time the horn of conservatism has been blown from the hills of Wisconsin.

"As a matter of fact, one of the difficulties of the response has been that the persons answering the call have all been captains, but the captains have all come, as they did on the income tax in the vain hope that at last there has been discovered a method by which they can again creep into power in Wisconsin, if not in office, into the power that lies behind a throne.

"The conservative press bureau is again lively as usual as these meetings to protest on the cost of commissions are being routed through the public press as being largely attended by farmers, and every stalwart who arrives in the city is being interviewed to a great extent just as he was two years ago on the income tax and is just as sure as he was then that the farming population of Wisconsin is absolutely up in arms against the high taxation and is preparing to welcome an old time stalwart form of government under some guise or another back into power.

"In fact, the talk is very much the same as it was two years ago on the income tax, and very much the same persons, if lists of the attendance and the speakers at the taxpayers' meetings are any criterion, are making the 'holler.'

English language is incapable of a more concise and accurate analysis of conditions than is found in the foregoing paragraphs. History will corroborate every word of it.

THAT MISLEADING STATEMENT AGAIN

The Tribune hastens to say to its readers that it was in error in saying that Comptroller W. J. Fries was the official who sent out the tax summary so worded as to make $60,000 of city school taxes appear to be state taxes. We add with equal frankness that the city treasurer, who sent it out, merely obeyed a council resolution and acted in good faith.

We fully sympathize with Mr. Fries' suggestion that the state, to meet whose forms the budget must be misleading, should so revise its system as to make city bookkeeping plain and simple. And as the state bears the burden of criticism made possible through the faulty system, its present experiences with the exploitation of misinformation traced directly home to it should be a strong incentive to reformation of its methods.

Had the misleading statement borne the footnote of explanation suggested by the comptroller, the subject might readily be dropped with that official's manly and clear explanation of the real facts. But as it did not, and as similar misstatements in other cities have been so exploited for political purposes as to compel the attention of the governor of the state, it may be well to go a step further.

The resolution by which the council ordered the statement to be sent out was, of course, introduced by an alderman. It may be well to look up the matter, to find if its author was a standpat democrat, or a standpat republican, and to note what remarks he made in support of its passage. It may have been a bona fide attempt to inform the taxpayers, made by an alderman whose attention had not been called to the fact that a budget summary not only would not "inform the voters how their money was being spent," but actually would misinform them. On the other hand, it may have been a deliberate attempt to mislead taxpayers, for political purposes. The matter will have to be looked into.

HAVE THE WISCONSIN DEMOCRATS A HENRY VIII?

There may be Wisconsin democrats who, contemplating the manner in which "Joe and I" monopolize the pie counter, recall the remark of England's Henry VIII that he had not "seen the clause in Adam's will which entitled Spain and Portugal to divide America between them."

By the way, how much of America is "divided between Spain and Portugal?"

Chicago women have been given an excellent chance to test the efficacy of their suffrage on the men who ousted Mrs. Young.

Missouri has a wild man who peeks bees in his hat. Still, he isn't the only wild man of that kind Missouri has, either.

Endless ranks of the stars o'er-arching,
Endless ranks of an army marching,
Marching out of the measureless dark,
Marching away to Eternity.See the gleam of the white, sad faces
Moving steadily, row on row,
Marching away to their hopeless wars;
Drum-taps, drum-taps, where are they marching?
Terrible, beautiful, human faces,
Common as dirt, but softer than snow,
Coarser than clay, but calmer as the stars.Hints and faces of one—the Eternal,
Faces of grief, compassion, and pain,
Faces of hunger, faces of stone,
Faces of love and of labor, marching,
Changing facets of One—the Eternal.Streaming up thro' the wind and the rain,
All together and each alone.

"What is Sile looking so glum about these days?" asked the farmer with the eggs.
"Gosh! He thinks he's been buncoed again," drawled the railsplitter."Do tell!"

A host who was nervous and inexperienced rose hurriedly at the conclusion of a song one of his guests had given.

"Ladies and—er—gentlemen," he said, "before Mr. M. began he asked me to apologize for his voice, but I omitted to do so—er—so—I—er—apologize now!"

A Question for Doctors
Little Clarence—Paw!
Mr. Callipers—Well, my son?

(From Beauty and Health.)
It's really a simple matter to renovate a face soiled by dirt, wind or cold. Ordinary mercurized wax, used like cold cream, will transform the worst old complexion into one of snowy whiteness and velvety softness. It literally peels off the outer veil of surface skin, but so gently, gradually, there's no discomfort. The worn skin comes off, not in patches, but evenly, in tiny particles, leaving no evidence of the treatment. The younger, healthier, under-skin forming the new complexion is one of captivating loveliness. One ounce of mercurized wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to remove any coarse, chapped, pimpled, freckled, faded or sallow skin. Apply before retiring, washing it off mornings.

Many skins wrinkle easily with every wind that blows, with heat, worry, etc. An excellent wrinkle-remover, because it tightens the skin and strengthens relaxed muscles, is a wash lotion made as follows: Powdered sassafras, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint. This gives immediate results.

MARVEL

is a household word and need in thousands of homes in this great country.

YOU MAY PAY MORE BUT YOU CANNOT GET BETTER FLOUR

LISTMAN MILL CO.
LA CROSSE, WISCONSINThe Diplomat
It was the day after the party. Nine year old Robert came to his mother and said:

"Mamma, how many of those nice cut glass icecream dishes of yours are there exactly?"

"Twenty-four, my son."

"Will you bet me that you have more than twenty-three?"

"No, darling. Grandmother Brown gave me one dozen and Grandmother Sullivan another dozen. That makes exactly two dozen."

"All the same," persisted young Robert, "please bet with me."

"Very well, I'll bet."

"Then you've lost. 'Cause I've broken one of 'em."

And So Ad Infinitum
Johnny, who is the son of a commuter gardener, knows the vegetables in the garden in the only true way. Johnny's father thought it a sign of extreme precocity that a four year old should tell a potato from a tomato. Just to show his neighbor he ordered Johnny to fetch a potato from the garden. Johnny did it.

"How do you tell a potato from a tomato?" asked the neighbor.

"A potato has black bugs," Johnny answered, "and a tomato has green."

Cut Off
The world is well aware that a stern kaiser has forbidden his officers to dance the tango or to go to tango parties. They say that a young lieutenant met a friend in the streets of Berlin the other day and embraced him with fervor.

"I'm dying of loneliness!" said the lieutenant.

"What!" said the friend, "lonely in Berlin?"

"Just that," returned the other. "You can't go to anybody's house any more. They all dance the tango."

Fattened on Vaudeville
A vaudeville artist who used to tour the theaters with a flock of performing ducks found managers no longer willing to book his sedate show. After he had been resting for some time he received a telegram asking him to open on the following Monday at a vaudeville theater in a distant town. In reply he wired:

"Regret cannot come. Have eaten the act."

Seven Keys To Baldpate

The New Sensational Comedy
By Earl Derr Biggers
Copyright The Robb-Merrill Company

"Funny, ain't it," he remarked, "the different things the same word means to a bunch of folks. Say romance to me, and I don't see no dim laboratory. I don't see nothing dim. I see the brightest lights in the world, and the best food, and somebody, maybe, dancing the latest freak dance in between the tables. And an orchestra playing in the distance—classy dames all about—a taxi clicking at the door. And me sending word to the chauffeur, 'Let her click till the milk carts rumble—I can pay.' Say—that sure is romance to me."

"Mr. Hayden," remarked Magee, "are we to hear from you?"

Hayden hesitated, and looked for a moment into the black eyes of Myra Thornhill.

"My idea has often been contradicted," he said, keeping his gaze on the girl. "It may be again. But to me the greatest romance in the world is the romance of money making—dollar piling on dollar in the vaults of the man who started with a shoe-string, and hope, and nerve. I see him fighting for the first thousand—and then I see his pile growing, slowly at first—faster—faster—until a motor-car brings him to his office, and men speak his name with awe in the streets."

"Money," commented Miss Thornhill contemptuously. "What an idea of romance for a man."

"I did not expect," replied Hayden, "that my definition would pass unchallenged. My past experiences—" he looked meaningfully at the girl—"had led me to be prepared for that. But it is my definition—I spoke the truth. You must give me credit for that."

"I ain't one to blame you," sneered Cargan, "for wanting it noticed when you do side-step a lie."

How to Save Your Eyes
Try This Free Prescription

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses? Do you "squint"? Thousands of people wear "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these, and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription, which has benefited the eyes of so many, may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest wideawake drug store and get a bottle of Optona tablets; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one tablet and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvelous in its effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription.

"See here, Cargan," blazed Hayden.

"Yes, you did speak the truth," put in Miss Thornhill hastily. "You mentioned one word in your definition—it was a desecration to dig it in—hope. For me romance means only—hope. And I'm afraid there are a pitiful number in the world to whom it means the same."

"We ain't heard from the young woman who started all this fuss over a little word," Mr. Cargan reminded them.

"That's right, dearie," said Mrs. Norton. "You got to contribute."

"Yes," agreed the girl with the "locks crisped like golden wire." "I will. But it's hard. One's ideas change so rapidly. A moment ago if you had said romance to me, I might have babbled of shady corners, of whisperings on the stair, of walks down the mountain in the moonlight—or even on the hotel balcony." She smiled gaily at Magee.

"Perhaps tomorrow, too, the word might mean such rapturous things to me. But tonight—life is too real and earnest tonight. Service—Professor Bolton was right—service is often romance. It may mean the discovery of a serum—it may mean so cruel a thing as the blighting of another's life romance." She gazed steadily at the stolid Cargan. "It may mean putting an end forever to these picturesque parades past the window of the little room on Main Street—the room where the boys can always find the mayor of Reunion."

Still she gazed steadily into Cargan's eyes. And with an amused smile the mayor gazed back.

"You wouldn't be so cruel as that," he assured her easily; "a nice attractive girl like you."

The dinner was at an end; without a word the sly little professor rose from the table and hurriedly ascended the stairs. Magee watched him disappear, and resolved to follow quickly on his heels. But first he paused to give his own version of the word under discussion.

"Strange," he remarked, "that none of you gets the picture I do. Romance—it is here—at your feet in Baldpate Inn. A man climbs the mountain, to be alone with his thoughts, to forget the melodrama of life, to get away from the swift action of the world, and meditate. He is alone—for very near an hour. Then a telephone bell tinkles, and a youth rises out of the dark to grate of a lost Arabella, and haberdashery. A shot rings out, as the immortal custom with shots, and in comes a professor of Comparative Literature, with a perforation in his derby hat. A professional hermit arrives to teach the amateur the fine points of the game. A charming maid comes in—too late for breakfast—but in plenty of time for walks on the balcony in the moonlight. The mayor of a municipality condescends to stay for dinner. A battle in the snow ensues. There is a weird talk of—a sum of money. More guests arrive. Dark hints of a seventh key. Why, bless you, you need not stir from Baldpate Inn in search of your romance."

He crossed the floor hastily, and put one foot on the lower step of Baldpate's grand stairway. He kept it there. For from the shadows of the landing Professor Bolton emerged, his blasted derby once more on his head, his overcoat buttoned tight, his ear-muffs in place, his traveling-bag and green umbrella in tow.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of the ordinary cough more quickly, usually conquering it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for spasmodic croup, whooping cough, bronchial asthma and bronchitis.
Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 15 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.
This is just laxative enough to help relieve a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.
The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.
This Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy has often been imitated, but the old successful mixture has never been equalled. It is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy.
A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

COPELAND PARK DAMAGED BY RAIN

Big Pieces Cut Out by the Downpour and Forrer Recommends Building Curb

The rain worked havoc with Copeland park yesterday and in many places the earth has been completely washed away.
Park Commissioner John H. Forrer today issued a warning to teamsters to avoid driving around the Black river drive of the park owing to the weakened condition of the roadway.
Mr. Forrer points out that a cement curb is needed along Black river for 2,050 feet. This, he said, would be even better than the suggested rip-rapping.

Old Nursery Rhymes.

Some of our favorite nursery rhymes can be traced back many hundreds of years. "Sing a Song of Sixpence" was popular in the sixteenth century. "Three Blind Mice" was sung in the reign of James I. "The Frog and the Mouse" amused the children in the days of Queen Elizabeth. "Girls and Boys Come Out to Play" was well known in the reign of Charles II, and the immortal "Humpty Dumpty" perhaps is of the greatest antiquity.

Art of Memory.

The best way to remember a thing is thoroughly to understand it and often to recall it to mind. By reading continually with great attention, and never passing a passage without understanding and considering it well, the memory will be stored with knowledge, and things will occur at times when we want them, though we can never recollect the passage or from whence we draw our ideas.

Sometimes a cook by another name would be a despot, just the same.

CAR THIEF GETS REFORMATORY TERM

Judge Ignores Previous Record to Let Lad Go to Green Bay and Learn Baker's Trade

William Owsianowski, the 16 year old Chicago lad recently arrested, following the looting of a C. M. & St. P. box car in the north side yards, was arraigned before County Judge John Brindley this morning and sentenced to the Green Bay reformatory for an indeterminate period. Except for the request that he be sent to some place where he could continue to learn the baker's trade, Owsianowski showed little interest in the proceedings.

Following the arrest by Detective Daniel Deneen, William Shaw, railroad detective, took charge of the prosecution and upon investigating the record of the lad, found that he had been convicted on two occasions in Chicago and had been a prisoner in an Illinois reform school at one time.

According to the laws of Wisconsin second offenders cannot be committed to the reformatory but as it would be impossible for Owsianowski to continue learning his trade at the state prison and no evidence regarding former convictions had been submitted, Judge Brindley ignored the lad's previous record.

TEN YEAR OLD BOY ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Ray Pendergast, ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pendergast, of 1436 Kane street, was accidentally shot Tuesday afternoon while hunting back of the Burlington yards.

With two companions, Stauley Stevenson and Leonard Rich, he was climbing a hill and to make progress easier, he threw his gun ahead of him and started to climb. The gun slid back and the trigger caught, firing the gun, the bullet hitting the boy over the heart and lodging near the left shoulder. The boy's companions ran for help, and two men, Maurice Cochrane and J. Evenson carried him into the Burlington club house and summoned a doctor.

It is thought that one of the boy's ribs is fractured. If possible, an attempt will be made today to extract the bullet. The boy is resting easily today and it is not thought that any serious complications will develop.

Amiable Court Witness.

A Maori woman who gave evidence at a Stratford, New Zealand, inquest showed a degree of amiability somewhat rare in the witness box. When she faced the jury, she made a remark, which, on being interpreted, was found to be a wish that health, wealth and prosperity might ever abide with the jury individually and collectively. After finishing her evidence she again voiced the wish before leaving the box.

Wanted to Collect.

Bill (on the third story, to Tom, on the fifth)—"I say, Tom, whenever convenient, would you mind dropping a hammer or a brick or anything hard on my head? Oi just been takin' out some accident insurance!"—Buffalo Courier.

Had Enough of "Sport."

When the prince of Wales—later King Edward—visited India he took part in a tiger hunt, mounted on an elephant, with his gillie, Peter Robertson, behind him in the howdah. Suddenly a swarm of bees descended on them and stung both prince and gillie severely. Peter cried out in his agony, regardless of all rank: "Whit's the use o' stayin' here to be stinged to death by these beasts, a' for the sake o' a dirty tiger? Let's awa' and be out o' it."

HAIR STOPS FALLING, DANDRUFF DISAPPEARS---25 CENT DANDERINE.

Save your hair! Make it soft, fluffy, lustrous and beautiful

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

You can make $2.00 in five minutes at the La Crosse theater every Friday night if you will sing, dance, tell a story, play on any musical instrument, or any stunt that will last 5 minutes, and $5.00 if you get the first prize.

The Ten Greatest Inventions.
"What are the ten greatest inventions of our time?" asked a scientific journal recently. It awarded the prize to the contestant sending this list.

And all this was accomplished in a quarter century. Power asks, Can you name off hand seven of the inventions?

NOSTRILS AND HEAD--CATARRH GOES

Instantly Clears Air Passages; You Breathe Freely, Nasty Discharge Stops, Head Colds and Dull Headache Vanish.

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it. Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless. Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Baehachy or Have Bladder Trouble

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases. Agent, Chas. A. Beyschlag, Druggist, 503 Main street.

DECEMBER IMPORTS LARGE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Figures for 1913 trade, issued by the commerce department today showed total imports were $1,792,183,645, against $1,818,073,055 in 1912. ### A Work of Supererogation.

Johnson had just recovered from one of the periodical sprees to which he was addicted. During the sobering off process he met the village good samaritan, who had often helped him over the rough places in his almost worthless life. Shamefaced and in a repentant mood, he confessed:

"Well, Miss Polly, I certainly have been making a fool of myself again. I found I didn't have to make many alterations to complete the job."—New York Sun.

In a Bad Way.

There is a Pennsylvania divine who is not averse to telling a good story at his own expense.

Once at a mission meeting in Philadelphia which was attended mainly by sailors the good man had sought to adapt his remarks to his hearers by using nautical similes, and he ventured somewhat beyond his depth.

"And now what shall we do—what shall we do?"

"Nothin' doin', cap'n!" sang out one of the sailors. "Ye're in bad! Ye're goin' in starn foremost!"

Ingenuous Smuggling Device.

Opium smuggling was frustrated by the San Francisco police recently, when an ingenious attempt was made to get it into the city jail. Patrick Dougherty stuffed an imitation rubber grape with opium, tied it to the stem of a bunch of real grapes, and carried in the bunch to a woman prisoner.

As Dougherty is a probationer, his offense is likely to cost him dear.

Danger In Book Taught French.

Here is a good story told by Judge Rentoul at the Old Bailey and quoted in the London Citizen. A wooden legged man, with a barrow, had been knocked over by a brewer's dray, and it was alleged that the drayman was drunk at the time, he being unable to speak intelligently to the policeman.

This evidence of drunkenness, said the judge, was not infallible.

An eminent K. C. who had taught himself French from a book resolved to have a holiday in Paris. On arriving at his destination and wishing to be directed to a hotel he addressed a gendarme in his book learned French and was promptly "run in" for being drunk and disorderly.

"You wrong me. I did stop and inquire. But for the life of me I can't remember what they said about her. I'm forgetful, as you say, and—"

"Oh, never mind about that, darling. What do I care about what they said? Just so you stopped and asked, that's all that makes any difference."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GILLIS-STYER

Miss Helen Gillis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Gillis, and Elmer B. Styer of Menomonie, were married this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's church by Rev. Dr. Robert B. Condon. The occasion was also the fortieth anniversary of the marriage of the bride's parents. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. John Doherty, the bride party entered the church, the bride on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her sister, Miss Eva Gillis, was maid of honor. Miss Ida Gillis and Miss Alice Mockley were bridesmaids. Mr. Charles Styer was best man. The ushers were Messrs. Gregory Boschert and Bernard Volz.

The costuming of the party was most effective. The bride's gown was of white brocade satin elaborately trimmed with duchess lace. She wore a tulle veil with cap of Spanish lace and carried her grandmother's prayerbook, which she carried in 1845. The maid of honor was gowned in green crepe de chien, trimmed with real lace. Miss Alice Mockley wore a gown of tango shade. Miss Ida Gillis' gown was of white crepe de chien, trimmed with gold lace. The bridesmaids and maid of honor carried shower bouquets of pink roses. The church was handsomely decorated for the occasion.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to relatives and intimate friends at the home of the bride's parents. The decorations in the living room and reception hall consisted of cut flowers, palms and ferns. Red roses and smilax were used in the dining room. A reception from 5 to 10 will be given for the bride and groom this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Styer will leave for Menomonie tonight for a short visit with Mr. Styer's parents. From there they will go to Montana, their future home, where Mr. Styer owns a large ranch. ## AD WILL REPORT TO COMMISSION

Michigan Fighter on the Carpet for Rough Tactics in the Rivers Bout

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 29.—Whether Ad Wolgast will suffer the fate of Packey McFarland at the hands of the Wisconsin boxing commission will be decided on Saturday when Wolgast will appear before the commission in person to answer the charges that he pursued unfair tactics in his recent bout with Joe Rivers here.

According to members of the commission, Wolgast failed to follow the rule of clean breaks, and several times hit his opponent coming out of the clinches. Wolgast says that Rivers was guilty of the same offense, and thinks that the Mexican should also be punished if anything is done in his case.

It is not expected the commission.

if it decided against the Cadillac lightweight, will be as drastic in its action as against Packey McFarland, when the Chicago boy was barred for a year, but Wolgast may draw a short suspension of a month or so.

Milwaukee and Chicago fans who saw the Wolgast-Rivers mill say that they were completely satisfied with the bout, and local critics see no reason why Wolgast should be subject to censure.

Wolgast will come back to Milwaukee on Friday to prepare for his grilling before the board, and his assertion will be supported by affidavits from those who attended the show. If Wolgast is barred for any period of time it will mean a cancellation of the proposed fight with Charlie White, and also of the Ritchie bout, which was billed for March.

PACKEY PREPARES FOR MIKE GIBBONS

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Mike Gibbons, St. Paul boxer, was expected to reach Chicago and start training for his bout with Packey McFarland today. Gibbons will work out every afternoon with Fred Gilmore, son of a local boxing promoter, who knows McFarland's style.

McFarland did light training stunts yesterday and was hard at it today. He denied reports that the bout might be called off and said that only slight differences over weight caused his manager to consider pulling out.

Coloring an Abyssinian Bride. Western brides have an easier time than their Abyssinian sisters. On the occasion of her marriage an Abyssinian bride has to change her skin. From ebony she has to become the color of cafe au lait. To accomplish this the expectant bride is shut up in a room for three months. She is covered with woolen stuff, with the exception of her head. Then they burn certain green and fragrant branches. The fumes which they produce destroy the original skin, and in its place comes the new skin, soft and clear as a baby's.

MAJORS PLAN TO BOOST THE A. A.

Latest Move to Down Federal Causes Split in the Big League Ranks

C. W. MURPHY OPPOSES THE PLAN

Cub Owner Sees His Finish if the Association Enters the Windy City

BY HAL SHERIDAN.
(Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The presence of President C. W. Somers of the Cleveland Naps in Chicago has revived reports of a plan of organized baseball to choke off the Federals by raising the American association to major league rating and placing a team in Chicago. Somers owns the Toledo association team as well as the Naps. The scheme has been to sell the Toledo club to Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federals, and then transfer the team to Chicago. Such a plan will never be executed, however, without being accompanied by loud wails and much fighting on the part of C. Webb Murphy.

Weeghman has the reputation of being popular in Chicago. Murphy is generally about as popular as the fly in the butter. He is said to believe that if an American association team is placed in Chicago, the Cubs will suffer and then in the distance Murphy may be seen getting requests to sell out to the present Federal owners.

Some of the other National league owners are said to be backing Murphy in his stand. The American league magnates favor such a move, but Murphy is said to have asked that a special National league meeting be called before the schedule meeting here February 10. At present the big leaguers are apparently stumped in their movement against the Federals. Murphy and those backing him believe the Federals are now gasping for breath and they want to fight to the finish. If this faction will not consent to seeing the fight conducted as planned with the American association in the west and a similar arrangement with the International league in the east, the battle will have to be carried on through the ticket offices.

Dooins Stands Pat. Charlie Dooins denies having written Secretary McCullough of the Pittsburgh Federals dicker for a job with the "outlaws," which is the development that might have been expected in baseball's "dear senator" episode. McCullough invites Dooins to sue him for libel.

Two world's series threw their hats back into the organized fold yesterday when Jack Combs of the Athletics and Jack Murray of the Giants signed up contracts.

Maryland May End Racing. Racing is threatened in Maryland as the result of a bill introduced in the legislature yesterday. The measure would repeal the Harford county racing law, its passage would mean the wiping out of the Havre de Grace track.

Beel Champ Prospect. Frank Gotch has definitely stated that he will not participate in the wrestling tournament, the second session of which will be staged in March, and in a letter to Emil Klank, the former manager of Gotch, Frank declared he had retired from the mat for good.

Gotch was offered $25,000 for three matches here. In clinching the statement of his retirement Gotch suggested that Beel and Americus get together and the winner of the match defend the title.

"I will willingly waive my rights to the title in favor of the winner of the Beel-Americus match," said Gotch.

FEDERAL LEAGUE TO POOL PLAYERS

Provision in Contract of Feds Permitting Transfer of Players to Other Clubs

CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—That contracts signed by Federal league players contain a proviso that the player may be transferred to any other club in the league, without in any way invalidating the contract, was given out here today.

The Federal contract forms were drawn to permit the pooling of players and their distribution to the best advantage but the league officials have not yet determined whether this method shall be used. Dispatches from Kansas City today said that Pitcher Claude Hendrix, signed by the Chicago Feds, would be turned over to Kansas City as an early step in the pooling arrangement, but this report was officially denied at Federal league headquarters here.

Until it is definitely decided whether the pooling process is to be used, the roster of players for each club will be withheld. Chicago's playing cast as given out to date, is as follows:

Pitchers—Ad Brennan, formerly with Philadelphia Nationals; Russell Ford and King Cole, formerly with New York Americans; Claude Hendrix, formerly with Pittsburgh Nationals, and Irwin Lange, Chicago, semi-professional.

Catchers—Ted Easterly, formerly with Chicago White Sox, and Frank Owens, formerly with Minneapolis American association.

Infielders—Joe Tinker, formerly with Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs; Rollie Zeider, formerly with New York Americans.

Outfielders—Ward Miller, formerly with Chicago Cubs.

Three promising youngsters have been signed to fill holes in the Chicago infield. Manager Tinker announced today, but he refused to give out their names. Several more players, including outfielders, are understood to be under contract but their names are likewise withheld.

UNCLE SAM CAN'T GET RID OF COIN

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 29.—The $500 given Billy Killifer by Charles Weeghman of Chicago for signing with the Federal league is kicking around Philadelphia without an owner. Killifer won't accept it, and apparently Weeghman doesn't want it.

The day Killifer signed with the Phillies repudiating the contract he previously had signed with the Chicago Federals he sent the $500 bonus money to Weeghman by registered letter.

Weeghman refused to accept the letter, which carried the name of Killifer, and today the postal authorities sought Killifer at the Hotel Bingham for the purpose of turning the rejected letter over to him. Killifer had left, but a telegram caught him at Toronto.

"Uncle Sam can keep the letter and the $500. I don't care," was the answer Killifer wired back.

MEN who depend upon their voices come to know tobacco as the ordinary smoker never knows it. A sensitive throat or mouth feels the slightest sting, bite or scorch of tobacco.

Tuxedo is the one tobacco which singers, actors, public speakers—all men who guard their throats zealously—can smoke with pleasure and safety.

Tuxedo tobacco cannot sting, bite or irritate the delicate membranes of the mouth or throat.

The Perfect Pipe Tobacco

Tuxedo tobacco has made thousands of men converts to the pipe, because it has made pipe-smoking possible for them. ### WORK OUT PLAN FOR MARKET POST

Agricultural College Would Reduce Cost of Produce for the City Dwellers

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—With the parcel post as the agent, the agricultural college is unfolding a plan of reducing the cost of farm and garden produce to city dwellers that is attracting wide attention at the farmers' course. It involves the shipment of commodities from the farm to city consumers in special cartons by parcel post or express, depending upon the size and character of the goods. The shipping receptacles are of great variety. A five pound package of fresh lettuce, value 50 cents, is sent by mail at a cost of seven cents for postage and four cents for the container, making a total expense of eleven cents and bringing the total cost to the consumer up to 61 cents. A ten pound carton of home made mince meat is listed at a cost of ten cents for the container and ten cents postage, added to the producer's price for the product. The exhibit on view at agricultural hall shows eggs, butter, apples, potatoes, cabbages, tomatoes, beans, and many other articles packed in attractive packages made of paraffin board and similar material, depending upon the use to which it is put. On all is the label, "Grown in Wisconsin," the design being the product of Andrew W. Hopkins of the college. Emphasis is laid on the attractive package, quality of the product and the guarantee label.

Easy Way to Remove Objectionable Hairs

(Beauty Culture)

Progressive beauty specialists are rapidly adopting the new, painless method for removing superfluous hairs and the result is that the costly and painful electric needle treatment is fast being discarded. The treatment is inexpensive and very simple—just make a paste with a little of the powdered delatone and water and apply to hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off and with it comes every trace of hair. Washing leaves the skin firm and spotless. Be sure, however, that you get the real delatone.—Advertisement.

TELL HOW TO JOIN CITY AND COUNTRY

Country Life Conference Hears Speakers Describe Methods to Get Unity

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—Citizens of cities in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa told the Wisconsin country life conference this afternoon of ways they had used in uniting village or city and country. The speakers were Editor I. R. Nye of Wittenberg, Wis.; Principal M. T. Buckley of Sauk City, Wis.; C. R. Thomson of Richland Center, Wis.; A. W. Sanborn of Ashland, Wis.; Rev. L. P. Peake of Fond du Lac, Wis.; Secretary C. E. Terhune of Clinton, Iowa, and Editor L. J. Boughner of Minneapolis.

Editor Nye, describing the Wittenberg way, said his town's success was due to corn, grain and vegetable contests, ending up with a minstrel show, free to all, which drew hundreds of farmers for miles around. Institutes and lectures also helped.

"Within a twenty mile radius of Wittenberg," he said, "the automobile hasn't yet won classification as a farm necessity; but we have climbed to the point where libraries, lecture courses, daily papers and the rural telephone are reckoned needful and I believe that we shall go steadily and unchecked to those heights of agricultural plutocracy where our farmers, too, will count that day lost whose low descending sun records not an added ten in bank and a century auto run. We're behind only because we got a tardy start. In due season northern Wisconsin will head the procession."

Sauk City's way of uniting city and country, according to Prof. Buckley, is to invite the farmers to share in the Memorial day exercises, and to share in material things as in the organization of a co-operative canning factory and the state bank. A store has been remodeled last summer has rest rooms for everybody. The banks do the same for their farmer patrons. A community institute was started by the university and lecturers from Madison talk on preventable diseases, good roads and how to get them, common interests of village and country, health, recreation, business and farm subjects. This community spirit, declared the speaker, is rapidly extending the village's trading area and adding improvements of many kinds.

"When strangers tell us we are experiencing a boom, we simply tell them we are just finding ourselves," concluded the speaker.

You never can tell. The pink of propriety isn't always exemplified by a maiden's blush.

PLAN FACTORY FOR REDLIGHT INMATES

Washington Will Give $8 Wage to Denizens of the District to Be Abolished

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—A unique sociological experiment is to be attempted in the national capital to provide for those of the "red light" district's unfortunates who want to live "straight," according to announcement of reform leaders today. President Wilson, impressed with their pleas that operation of the drastic Kenyon law abolishing the restricted area should be tempered with mercy for the unfortunate women of the underworld, has promised to withhold his signature making the statute effective until plans have fully matured.

A clothing plant, where employment will be given the former denizens of vice houses, is contemplated. The minimum wage will be $8 a week.

Meanwhile the exodus of the city's unfortunates continued. Special policemen patrolled downtown shopping streets with orders to arrest "street walkers" which profession those of the vice section who do not desire to reform have insisted they will adopt there.

It was expected today that the president would sign the law Saturday or Monday.

"Since My Pimples Are Gone My Complexion is as Clear as Can Be"

The impurities arising in the body are thrown off in four ways, through the pores of the skin, the lungs, the kidneys and bowels.

The skin breathes in air and exudes decayed matter which is poisonous. When the pores of the skin become clogged, then indeed is the beautiful woman a most painful object to look at. Pimples and all manner of skin disorders arise. Colorless skin, blotches, etc., are due to this great underlying cause.

Calcium Sulphide is nature's greatest blood purifier. It is found in just the desired form and quantity in Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Then there are other ingredients in these wafers which have an effect on the blood which acts in a natural and speedy way with the Calcium Sulphide.

The fact that you have skin blemishes is proof positive, that your system is trying to get rid of its poison. Pimples, etc., are nothing else than red, nasty warnings of danger. The blood is throwing off so much waste matter that it clogs the sickly pores. Stuart's Calcium Wafers will make the blood clear. They will throw open the pores and in only a short time you will find the entire system free from marks of blood impurity.

HORSE VALUE GROWS

The horse breeding interests of Wisconsin represent the most valuable asset, by far, of her livestock industry, according to the figures compiled in the office of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association. On January 1, 1913, the value of Wisconsin horses was $87,115,000 and the value per head was $131 as compared with $80,845,000 and $124, respectively, in 1912. In 1900 the average value per head was $87. Dairy cattle, next in value to horses, were worth $71,741,000 on January 1, 1913.

Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Wheat started firm and 1-4c higher today, local traders starting a moderate buying rush on the probability of lower temperatures over the southwest and a fairly steady market at Liverpool. Offerings were free on the advance, however, and before noon futures dropped practically all the early advance.
Corn was a shade easier on the cold weather predictions and then declined 3-8c under last night's closing prices. Free selling on the advance caused the depression in the prices.

Oats options led off with gains of 1-4 to 3-8c because offerings were light. When corn and wheat prices eased off there was a reaction in the oats pit, prices going to about those of last night.
A fair demand for provisions, inspired by a light run of hogs at the Stock Yards, caused all provision prices to advance.
Wheat and corn futures continued to slump in the afternoon, losing from 1-4 to 3-8c, but oats closed at noon prices.
Provisions registered slight gains in the afternoon session.

KEEP BOSS IN JAIL
REAL POLITICAL SACHEM OF NEW YORK REFUSED BOND WHILE ON TRIAL FOR PLOT TO SELL NOMINATION
NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—A real political boss has been jailed in New York. Joseph Cassidy, for years the democratic boss of Queens, was brought from a cell in the Raymond street jail today to the supreme court in Brooklyn, where his trial on a charge of conspiracy to sell a supreme court nomination is in progress. With him was Lewis T. Walter, Jr., who was also confined in a cell last night.
William Willett, Jr., a former congressman, was convicted last week of his part in the conspiracy and will be sentenced tomorrow. Bail up to $20,000 was offered for Cassidy and Walter while the trial is in progress, but Justice Jaycox ordered that they be confined in jail each night until the trial is completed.

SPOTLIGHTS

THE FIREFLY

Arthur Hammerstein announces Miss Edith Thayer in "The Firefly," a new comedy opera by Otto Hauerbach and Rudolf Friml for an engagement at the La Crosse Theater on Monday, Feb. 2.

The cast supporting Miss Thayer is composed of such noteworthy artists as Maxfield Moree, Burton Lenth, Charles H. Bowers, Bert Wheeler, Paul Veron, Thelma Fair, Alice Gailard, Etta Hager and Irene Sammel. Mr. Hammerstein lays particular stress upon his discovery of the composer, Mr. Rudolf Friml. While in Europe last season, Mr. Hammerstein was attracted by Mr. Friml's music, who then had two orchestral ballets, "Auf Japan" and "Heilfried" to his credit. Both of these are still being presented at the Dresden Hofoper Theater. Mr. Hammerstein immediately began negotiations to obtain his services through the agency of Frank Osgood, Munich representative for G. Schirmer.

Mr. Friml was born in Prague in 1881. He studied at the Prague Conservatory and afterward devoted his efforts to concert work and composition. In 1901 he accompanied his compatriot, Jan Kubelik, to this country, and in 1906 played his own piano concerto in B major with the New York Symphony orchestra.

The principal songs written by Mr.

Friml and sung in "The Firefly" are "Love is Like a Firefly," "Something," "Gianina," "Tommy Atkins," "Sympathy," "A Woman's Smile" and "When a Maid Comes Knocking at your Heart."

"DISRAELI"

Florence Arliss (Mrs. George Arliss) has an important part in her husband's production of Louis N. Parker's comedy "Disraeli," which will be seen for the first time in La Crosse Friday, Feb. 6 at La Crosse Theater.

In the character of Lady Beaconsfield, she is making her first appearance this season with Mr. Arliss since he became a star. Mrs. Arliss has appeared in a number of leading parts in England, but has not often been seen on the American stage.

DO YOU FURIANA?

ROME, Jan. 29.—Ability to Furiana is now the passport to Roman smart society. Furiana is not a propensity to fly into a rage, as might be inferred from its sound, but a new dance, to supplant the berated tango. That is, it is new to this generation but it is older than the South American dance, having been the popular dance of Venice many years ago.

ARREST MILITANTS

LONDON, Jan. 29.—A taxicab filled with militant suffragettes and driven by a woman was halted by the police today as it attempted to enter Downing street, while a cabinet meeting was in progress.

IDLE WOMEN MEET IN NEW YORK CITY

Mother of Girl of 15 Says She Has Lived Since Christmas on Three Dollars

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Banners about the hall where the meeting of unemployed women met yesterday afternoon were inscribed:

"Those who own our jobs own us."

"We have helped enrich the city. What will the city do for us?"

"To deny us the right to work is to deny us the right to live."

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—With tears streaming down their faces, young and old alike yesterday afternoon told of the hardships they have experienced in endeavoring to find employment when a mass meeting of idle women of the city was called at Cooper union. Social workers and women who were as unfortunate as the speakers wept with them. One woman, 45 years old, said she had lived since Christmas on $3.

"Doors are closed in my face now," she said. "They say I am too old."

The woman said she was also endeavoring to support her 15 year old daughter.

"I am fighting like a fiend to keep myself and my daughter from starving," she cried. "If I am old do I have to die?"

Sob at Story
Men and women alike sobbed as the woman told her story. A relief committee raised $5 for her. Her daughter, who is too weak to work owing to lack of food, is to be sent to a sanitarium.

Names of the speakers were not obtainable, as they said they might be blacklisted so they could never get employment. One young woman said the greatest suffering resulted from "fake" advertisements put in newspapers by some department stores. Women respond to these advertisements, she said, in search of employment, only to find that the store has no places open, but wish to have the line of applicants appear for the effect it will have on the employees in the establishment.

Answering such "ads" uses up their funds in car fare, the young woman said.

Told to Use Beauty
One young woman said that when she applied at one store and pleaded for work she was told that a "young, pretty girl like you should have no trouble earning money."

"Studying the white slave question, the wonder is that there are not more fallen women," declared Rose Schneiderman, vice president of the Woman's Trade union league. "This is the first meeting of unemployed women that was ever held, and when we can get the women together and thinking a change must come. Women must be paid a living wage so there will be no opportunity for advantage to be taken of her misfortune."

The meeting adjourned without arranging for a parade. A resolution was adopted calling upon the city and state to provide work for the unemployed women and girls of the city.

PREFERS SERUM TO SHAVE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—"For just twenty cents Uncle Sam can have a senator shaved in the free barber shop in the capitol, or can inject enough serum to cure a hog of cholera," commented Senator Kenyon today, in discussing his hog cholera bill. "Any senator can send twenty of his friends to have their beards removed, but would it not be better to save the life of one hog than to have a senator's face mowed and powdered?"

14 YEAR OLDS ELOPE
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 29.—Cecil Newton, 14 years old, is quite sure he is old enough to know when he is in love. Isis Jones, also 14, the object of his affections, is equally sure of her heart. Therefore, the couple eloped to St. Louis from their homes near Taswell, Ind., last night and would have been married today if the first policeman they met had not arrested them.

The Best Fortune Teller.
The quest of noblemen for wealth in America has been talked about for decades, but few, if any, can rival Baron Assezcash in being witty in a practical way.

Miss de Millmans, his prospective wife, was entertaining the baron one evening and apropos of lovers' nothing she asked:

"Did you, baron, ever go to a fortune teller?"

"Yes, indeed, many times. But the last time was best."

"Where did you go?"

"I went to the probate court to find out about your grandfather's will."

New York Tribune.

OUSTED—SUES HOTEL.
CHICAGO, Jan. 29.—Frank H. Martin of New York, eastern sales manager of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer corporation, announced today that he had instructed his attorneys to bring suit for damages against the Congress hotel, because he and his wife were ousted from the Congress while here attending the automobile show.
